

Språkforum

Programme for Spring 2018

All the meetings are arranged in Hulda Garborgs Hus, Room O-101, Fridays at 1015-1145

- 16.3. Klaus Johan Myrvoll, UiS:
Dating skaldic poetry by form: weighting the criteria
- 13.4. Oliver Traxel, UiS:
Exploring the linguistic past through the work(s) of J.R.R. Tolkien:
some points of orientation from English language history
- 1.6. Professor Ursula Lenker, Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität, München:
Anglo-Saxon microtexts: language and communicative functions

Språkforum is the oldest humanities research forum at the University of Stavanger, and has been ongoing (with some breaks) since the 1980's. Our speakers include both invited guests and local researchers, and we are very happy to receive suggestions of speakers or topics! All languages and linguistic approaches/themes are of interest, as are topics that may not themselves be linguistic but that are of particular interest for linguists.

We very much hope to gather together both linguists and others with an interest in language(s) for good discussions.

Merja Stenroos, Kjetil Thengs og Oliver Traxel